

DR. SUBRINA D. OLIVER

WHO AM I

I have 30 years of experience in career training, technical education, school-to-workforce readiness, and DEI in technical industries, as well as, being a highly certified specialist in program development, curriculum development, project management, STEM education, and leadership. With such a wide set of credentials and expertise, complemented by an honorable military background, I am confident in my ability to deliver pertinent insights and guidance to businesses in need of a consultant or public speaker. My consulting and speaking costs are decided by the specific requirements and scope of the project. Working with my company's brands will help your firm become more competitive in your market.
